

Ali Abou Daya

CEO of Transactix

Speaker Highlight

Ali Abou Daya is CEO of Transactix, a financial infrastructure company building the rails for how value moves across Canada and the world.

With over 18 years across business and engineering, Ali has been at the forefront of blockchain development since 2016, digital currency mining since 2011, and software programming since 2003. His work centres on building secure, regulated, and scalable systems that balance innovation with consumer protection and financial stability.

An active voice in Canadian digital asset policy, Ali has presented at the House of Commons Standing Committee on Industry and Technology and speaks regularly at Consensus, Inventures, and forums hosted by the Canadian Blockchain Consortium, Fintechs Canada, Digital Governance Council, and Canadian Web3 Council.

Before Transactix, Ali was COO of Gearlay Technologies, ranked #1 company to watch in Canada by Deloitte Fast50 in 2025, with over US$100 billion in transactions processed to date.

Ali holds degrees in business and computer and communications engineering from Cornell University and the American University of Beirut.
